

I am a DSL user who also uses an independent ISP, and object strongly to deregulation of broadband service pricing by the baby-bells. I am already paying a premium over SBC DSL pricing for the service I get from my ISP, and deregulation will drive that price higher, for no good reason other than further profits from an already-expensive service.